LEAPED FROM HOME IN FLAMES

Lower Part of House Was all
Ablaze Before Occupant
Knew It

JUMPS OUT SECOND STORY

Frank Hayes Detected Burning
Order Barely in Time to Make a Safe Exit

Alone in the house, sitting near the stove reading in an upstairs bed room last night about eleven o'clock, Frank Hayes detected an odor of something burning, but gave it little thought for several minutes. It became stronger and Hayes arose to make an investigation. After examining the rooms upstairs, he started down the stairway and was almost panic stricken when a sheet of flames shot up the opening as he opened the door. Hayes lost no time in reaching a window and jumped from the burning building. The entire lower floor was in flames, but a quick run by the department saved the building from total destruction.

The origin of the fire is unknown, although it is thought that it started from a wood fire in the sitting room, the family having installed wood and coal fires but Thursday, changing from natural gas.

The household goods were almost a total loss, and Miss Anna Bohannon, who owns the property, will sustain a small loss, although an adequate amount of insurance was carried on the building.

Over enthusiastic amateur volunteer fire-fighters were instrumental in the flames spreading, as they attempted to gain entrance into the burning home, throwing open all the doors and breaking in the windows, which caused a draft to fan the flames into a costly conflagration.

SHELBYVILLE BOYS SUFFERED DEFEAT

Rushville Lads Won by Superior
Playing With Score of 22 to 7

The high school lads are jubilant today over their decisive victory last night, when the Shelbyville high school colors of Old Gold and Black were lowered in the dust of defeat by the tune of 22 to 7 in one of the fastest basket ball games ever played in this city.

The visitors have been practicing for several weeks and came with their mouths set for victory, but took their defeat in a gentlemanly manner.

The Rushville team was lined up as follows: Forwards, Hiner and Bankert; guards, Smith and Dennis; center, Williams. Bankert and Hiner featured the Rushville team's playing. Bankert made seven field goals, Keeling two, Hiner two, and Morrison one. Prof. Sperlin, of Shelbyville, was referee and Prof. W. A. Stockinger, of this city, umpired the game. A large crowd was in attendance.

Instincts of a Woman.

A little girl who had for some time wanted a dog was taken very ill. One day when much better she told her mother of her desire and begged her to ask her grandpa to buy her one. The mother answered that grandpa did not like dogs and probably would not be willing to buy one. Then, seeing the little invalid look sadly disappointed, she said, "Well, wait till you get well, my dear, then we will see."

"Oh, no," answered the child, whose few years had taught her some wisdom. "The more sick I am the more likely he will be to buy it for me."—Exchange.

PAINFULLY BURNED FIGHTING FLAMES

But Timely Work of John Eckels
Saves His Home From Being Destroyed

John Eckels, of North Sexton street, had a narrow escape from serious injury this morning, and only timely work saved his home from being destroyed by fire.

A pair of lace curtains caught fire from a lighted gas stove, and in his endeavor to extinguish the flames, Mr. Eckels was painfully burned.

BURNED ON FACE AND ARMS

Two I. & C. Employees Received Painful Injuries in Gasoline Explosion

WHILE CLEANING OIL TANK

Caused By One of the Men Stepping On an Electric Wire

Edward Oakley and Oliver Leisure, two employees at the I. & C. power house, met with a painful accident Friday evening while cleaning an oil tank.

The two men had crawled into an oil tank to clean it out and had taken a small quantity of gasoline in with them, which they used in cleaning it. It being dark an electric light was used and in some manner one of the men stepped on the electric wire and a spark was thrown out, which ignited the gasoline and caused the explosion.

The men were taken to Dr. Wood- en's office, where their injuries were dressed. It was found that both were painfully burned on the face and arms, but the injuries are not thought to be serious. Mr. Oakley also received a slight cut on the head in attempting to get out of the manhole.

FIVE-SIXTHS OF THE PUPILS ARE SICK

Locust Grove School Closed on Account of a Trio of Diseases

The Locust Grove school house, number one, Rushville township, is in a sorry plight. The school is closed on account of an epidemic of chicken-pox, mumps and measles, and five-sixths of the twenty-four pupils are afflicted. John Geraghty is teacher.

RUSHVILLE OLD MAIDS WHO WILL EXERCISE THE LEAP YEAR RIGHTS

Many Fine Looking Women With Good Dispositions
Are Left For the "Pick and Choose"
Brigade

A LOVELY BUNCH OF FEMININE BEAUTIES

Still Thyself, Throbbing Heart, for the Publicity Given Herewith Will Result in Many Happy Marriages and Romances

Apocryphal of the publication of a list of Rushville's old bachelors, we shall return tit for tat, and print herewith a list of the old maids of this community, for what is sauce for the gander must likewise be sauce for the goose, though some will declare it to be a lemon extract dip.

In the publication of this list we have displayed equal fearlessness of any civil hero who ever got the heavy ink on the pages of history. Since we first mentioned the fact that such a list would appear we have been subjected to threats, ridicule, censure in every form of speech, and a double-dare-you from no end of maidens who sadly appreciate the fact that they have not improved with age.

A representative of the Priscilla club—an organization of elderly girls, half of whom are now married—was in this office yesterday and stated that while she did not approve of seeing the remaining half brought out in the limelight of publicity, still, if we insisted on publishing the names, she implored of us that it be done in the right spirit and without ridicule. We assured her we had no other thought in mind, and we want everyone to thoroughly appreciate this fact.

The Daily Republican was only able to secure a complete list because so much interest was shown by a number of women friends (?) of the old maids, who have seen to it that their name was not omitted.

MISS IMA NOONE, Noble town- ship. Age, — well, never mind how old I am. Thoroughly conversant with work on the farm, can make good butter, corn-cob molasses and a Marseille wave out of the widows top-knot or a horse's tail. Do not use face powder or other explosives, and am gentle, fond of outdoor life, and old fashioned melodeon playing and singing. Would like a partner in life who is a good church member; but not a back slider or one that joined during a revival. Am not a man hater—as one of the girls jokingly declared at a school house entertainment last fall—but on the other hand I read all the new novels that have good, fine looking heroes in them.

Will not tolerate a gushy, wishy-washy individual who wants to do his love making with his arms instead of his heart. Candidly, have had three proposals—I want to fool no man with deception—but for reasons best known to myself they never resulted in anything serious, which of course is apparent. Have made up my mind that during Leap Year, I intend to exercise my rights as a woman and take the initiative in this matter, as my future happiness is at stake. Mother objects to me keeping steady company—guess they don't want to spend the money for a hired girl in my place—but I am here to say that I will close with a desirable party without much ado or of a long drawn out silly courtship. Can be seen any Saturday on the bank corner or in the court house lobby, where I would be

LINCOLN PLANTED TREE

Which Has Been Stripped of its Branches But is Still Standing

G. V. Conoway, of North Main street, who travels for an Indianapolis house through the southern part of the State, has a copy of the original abstract of land entered by Thomas Lincoln, father of Abraham Lincoln, where Lincoln City, Spencer county, now stands.

Mr. Conoway has some twigs off the old cedar tree, which Abe set out with his own hands. The cedar is still standing and is the only thing to mark the old homestead, where the young man spent the best part of his young life, from 1817 to 1830.

Here is the scene of Abe's "famous rail splitting" which is known by every school boy in our land. A few rods away from the site of the old homestead is the grave of the mother of him, who became the most beloved of President of the United States.

The exact copy of the abstract of the land which was entered by Thomas Lincoln, the father of the martyred president, is as follows:

"As per tract B, October 15, 1817,

Book No. 1, page 63.

"The first transfer is from Thomas Lincoln and wife to Charles Grigsby, February 20th, 1830; Charles Grigsby and wife to Evelyn Brown, December 8th, 1835; Evelyn Brown to James Salley, February 4th, 1837; James Salley to Joseph Gentry, January 31st, 1838; Joseph Gentry to William Oskins, June 3d, 1853; William Oskins to James Gentry, April 29th, 1858; James Gentry to Henry Louis, in trust for Henry Louis, John Shillito, Robert Mitchell and O. W. West, November 29th, 1871; (with this transfer the following clause was inserted) excepting and reserving the log house, known as the Lincoln house, which was built by Abraham Lincoln and his father, Thomas, which has been heretofore sold; also excepting the right of way of the C. R. & S. W. railroad company, heretofore sold. A. J. Rhodes, a customer of Mr. Conoway and a dry goods merchant of Lincoln City owns the homestead and cedar tree at the present time.

Mr. Conoway is a great admirer of Abraham Lincoln and may be asked to make an address at the Lincoln Day exercises in this city.

Here's Where the Fun Comes In

Perry Pusey, a young hopeful of North Jackson street, is ill with with the grip. Likewise he suffers at times with the "tummy" ache, which is a redeeming ailment as it keeps him in bed. Yesterday he was tossing on his little bed suffering with an excruciating pain, where a plum pudding would have felt better, and in sheer desperation cried out to the several about his bed: "If some one will hit me hard in the stomach I will give 'em my Teddy bear."

DAMAGE SUIT MAY BE COMPROMISED

Sister of Milroy Man Killed on Big Four Confers with Attorney

Mrs. Carl F. Mook, of Milroy, was here Friday, says the Greensburg Review, looking after the interests of a damage suit brought by her as administratrix of her brother, Sam Avery, who was killed two years ago while in the employ of the Big Four Railroad company. The young man was known to be of steady habits, and his death was purely an accident, so far as his responsible acts have been shown. There was on hands today a consultation looking toward an equitable compromise.

Mr. Nixon Says Remarkable
Progress is Being Made on Panama Canal Work

Lee Nixon, formerly a resident of Rushville, and an employee of the Republican Company, is in Indiana from Porto Rico, visiting a number of cities where he formerly lived. Today's Indianapolis Star says of his visit there:

Lee Nixon, formerly a well known Indianapolis politician and at one time city clerk of Indianapolis, has returned to the city for a season of "handshaking," with old friends.

Nixon has for several years held the position of assistant postmaster at San Juan, Porto Rico. He went to the island shortly after the Spanish-American war and is one of the Americans who has made good in the United States' new possessions.

Nixon is associated with Walter K. Landis, who was appointed postmaster at San Juan shortly after the war. Nixon left Porto Rico several months ago, going to the Danish West Indies, thence to South America and from there to the Isthmus of Panama. He will return to his official duties at San Juan within a month.

Nixon is enthusiastic over the work that is being done at Panama. "Remarkable progress is being made with the canal," said Nixon. "A great deal has been said about the canal zone that is greatly exaggerated. Health conditions down there are as good as they are anywhere in the United States. They don't have as much fever there as they do in Wabash Valley here in Indiana. My observation is that the Panama Canal will be finished within the next four or five years."

C. H. & D. ENGINE BROKE DOWN AND DELAYED TRAIN

West-bound Train Due Here at
1:41 Friday Morning Four Hours Late

Train No. 36, west bound, on the C. H. & D., due at 1:41 a. m., arrived in Rushville, about four hours late Friday morning. The engine hauling the train broke down at Liberty and after some time was spent in an attempt to get it in working order again the effort failed and it was necessary to send to Connersville for a new engine.

DEATH IN FLAMES

Four New York Firemen Give Their Lives In Line of Duty.

A SPECTACULAR BLAZE

Twelve-Story Business Building Completely Destroyed at a Loss of
More Than $5,000,000.

Among the Concerns That Suffered
From the Flames Were Judge and Collier's Weekly.

New York, Jan. 11.—Four firemen went to their deaths last night when they responded to a fire that ruined the Parker building, a twelve-story business structure occupying the block between East Eighteenth and Nineteenth streets on Fourth avenue. Fought by half the firemen of Manhattan and apparatus that choked traffic for blocks, the flames were never controlled and only with difficulty were they confined to the building in which they originated. Floor after floor gave way and dropped to the basement and beneath these and crumbling walls no less than thirty firemen were caught and either killed outright or seriously injured.

When the fire had burned itself out and the firemen's roll was called three men of engine company No. 72 and one from fire patrol No. 3 failed to respond. They were: Thomas Philipps, Thomas O'Connor, John Lynch, John Fallon. Tim Hutchinson of patrol No. 3 was removed dying to the hospital. Captain Wilson and Captain Garvan of engine companies Nos. 24 and 72, who were injured internally, were among those dangerously hurt.

The monetary loss is estimated at more than $5,000,000. A. M. Karaghen, dealer in antique rugs, probably sustained the largest individual loss. His loss is placed at a million. The Ditmar Woolen company is said to have lost nearly as much. The Judge Publishing company also suffered heavily, as did the branch office of Collier's Weekly.

The fire was one of the most spectacular as well as disastrous in recent years. From start to finish its course was marked by heart-rending scenes, sensational escapes and flashes of heroism. The building was occupied chiefly by publishing houses, though a score of other businesses had workrooms or offices there. The loss to the tenants is total. The fire started on the fifth floor in the offices of Koper & Jackson, publishers, and before a stream of water had fallen upon it, had shot up through the elevator shafts and presently all of the upper floors were ablaze. On the fifth floor, where the watchman discovered the fire, five girls employed by the Ditmar Woolen company were at work. As the flames were above them the girls hurried down stairs to the street. On the top floor, in the Suffolk Engraving company's establishment, six men were working. Their escape was cut off and they fled to the roof. Flames had surrounded them on three sides and they were in imminent danger of death when rescued by means of a life line shot from a mortar gun and manned by a hook and ladder company on the roof of the Florence hotel adjoining. The hotel is seven stories in height and from its roof a rope was fired across the top of the burning building. There it was seized by the imperiled men and the free end made fast about a chimney. Down this rope hand over hand dropped the six men to safety. Meantime the Florence hotel had been emptied of its 200 guests and nearby houses were also vacated.

Seven firemen of engine company No. 72, which first arrived, ran up to the fifth floor of the burning building after eighty-five-foot extension ladders had been raised to the windows of that story to make possible the firemen's retreat. After a fruitless effort to stay the flames at the place of origin, the firemen were driven to the windows only to find that the tops of the ladders had been burned, cutting off their only retreat. Three of the seven made a desperate effort to reach the roof. They were not seen again and they are supposed to be dead in the ruins. The other four were rescued by men of hook and ladder company No. 7, who at the risk of their own lives ran up scaling ladders and dragged the more or less burned men from the windows. These men had barely reached the ground when the great masses of cement which formed a pillar of the steel frame-work gave way and crashed through to the ground, carrying with it everything below the seventh floor.

Taft Subjected to Quizzing.

New York, Jan. 11.—For the first time since he became a recognized candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, Secretary of War Wm. H. Taft last night faced a New York audience, set forth in detail his stand on the pertinent questions of the day, and in turn submitted to a rapid-fire attack from the audience, which quizzed him keenly and in a somewhat controversial spirit, according to the practice of the People's Institute, whose guest he was. The secretary proved equally effective in attack and defense, and his prompt and forcible replies and occasional witty sallies evoked applause.

MUCH NICER MEN

OPINION OF THE JURY

New York, Jan. 11.—The second jury to try Harry K. Thaw for the killing of Stanford White was completed last evening, and on Monday morning the prosecution will present its direct case against the defendant. As a whole the jury is made up of a most intelligent body of business men, most of whom are at middle age or over. When the panel had finally been completed, after many delays, and after the exercise of twenty-three preliminary challenges by the defense and twenty by the people, Thaw announced that he was entirely satisfied and in fact well pleased with the twelve men chosen. Young Mrs. Thaw, who has watched the selection of the jurors with the keenest interest, also declared that she was well satisfied.

"They are much nicer than the men selected last year," she said, as court adjourned, and Thaw exclaimed that he echoed his wife's sentiment.

Read what Alex Williams, 27 Perkins St., Melrose, Mass., says about Bloodine: "In due justice to your wonderful preparation I thought I should write to you and let you know how much good 'Bloodine' had done for me. Well, two years ago I weighed 194 pounds. I gradually lost in flesh until last May when I weighed only 127 pounds. I was advised to try 'Bloodine,' and to my great surprise I gained 15 pounds in just sixty days; this almost seems like a miracle to me as the doctors all told me I had a tobacco heart and my blood was very poor, and I would have to stop work for a year and doctor and build up my whole system as I was completely run down, but I did not lose a day's work after commencing to take 'Bloodine,' and can cheerfully recommend it to suffering humanity." Mr. Bartholdt of the House Committee on Public Buildings Has a Per Incent Word to Say.

Already Bills Calling For $80,000,- 000 In Public Buildings Have Been Introduced In Congress.

Washington, Jan. 11.—"The sixtieth congress has been in actual session only a few days, and more than 600 bills have already been introduced for the expenditure of about $80,000,000 in proposed public buildings. If 20 per cent of that total is appropriated during the present session, the people of the country may consider themselves lucky." The foregoing statement was made by Chairman Bartholdt of the house committee on public buildings and grounds.

"Government revenues," he said, "are falling short at the rate of about $1,000,000 a month, due to the curtailment of luxury purchases by the people in this time of financial disturbance and commercial repression. We feel a heavy deficit at the close of the fiscal year, the estimate of expenses for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1909, must be cut down, as the chairman of the appropriations committee pointed out recently, and original legislation, such as bills proposing the erection of public buildings and the purchase of public grounds, must be held in with a tight rein. It is true the government balance sheets show a handsome surplus of something like $250,000,000, but it must be remembered that a great deal of that money is distributed among the national banks, and that they are not at this time in a position to hand it over.

"The 600 odd bills that have been introduced thus far call for the appropriation of about $40,000,000 for public grounds and buildings throughout the country and approximately $10,000,000 for the same purpose in the District of Columbia, where there exists such crying needs, for instance, as a safe building for the archives of the government—priceless, unreplaceable in case of loss—which are now scattered about all over the city, in such peril as would cause the nation vast embarrassment if they should be destroyed."

Chairman Bartholdt has organized his committee by the appointment of various sub-committees.

Congress Making Progress.

Washington, Jan. 11.—The house yesterday resumed its old activity and for over five hours transacted business of a public nature. Material progress was made with the bill to codify, revise and amend the criminal laws of the United States. The feature of the session was a brief address by Mr. Burleson of Texas, who credited Senator Foraker and other Republicans with having charged the president with the responsibility for the recent financial panic.

TESTIMONY CONCLUDED

The Walsh Case Has Now Reached the Stage for Argument.

Chicago, Jan. 11.—With the conclusion yesterday afternoon of the cross and re-direct examination of John R. Walsh, the taking of testimony in the long-drawn-out case against the former bank president was practically completed. Arguments on the evidence will be begun Monday morning, and it is thought that the case will be given to the jury before the close of next week. Reaffirming and reiterating that his first concern in all of the transactions between himself, his banks and his various enterprises had always been the welfare of the Chicago National bank, the defendant witness came through the ordeal of cross-examination without retracting a word of his initial declaration.

Grain Goes Up In Smoke.

Greenfield, Ind., Jan. 11.—The grain elevators at Willow Branch, owned by Thomas New and Richard Kinder of this city, were totally destroyed by fire. Loss, $5,000.

From Texas to Florida storm warnings have been issued on the gulf coast.

"DAINTY LAUNDERING"

Our methods of washing, starching and ironing would scarcely injure a butterfly's wing, much less a sturdy shirt or collar. There may be a trifle of exaggeration in this statement, but you know what we mean, that we exercise conscientious care in the way we "do up" things. This is a laundry saving bank—your clothes last longer—because of his care we always use.

MARKED IMPROVEMENT

Is Shown in the Trade Situation, Says Bradstreet.

New York, Jan. 11.—Bradstreet's weekly review of trade today says: Financial affairs show further and marked improvement and money is more plentiful and easier to obtain, but the gain in trade and industry proper is still largely one of sentiment because business is quiet the country over, railway earnings and bank clearances are below a year ago, collections are slow, though better than a month ago, and industry is, as a whole, on short time, with the larger centers reporting a great number of unemployed. In trade lines the general report is one of backward business. Mild weather is still a bar to the widest activities in seasonable goods north and west, and retailers are stimulating lagging demand by reduction sales and Southern trade shows little more life than a week ago. Some lines report after-holiday collections as better than those of December, and in some cases better than anticipated, but they in few cases are better than slow to fair.

The available cash balance of the government is $270,000,000.

There isn't the slightest doubt that public sentiment is with Harry Thaw at least to the extent of wishing the trial to be short.

Governor Johnson of Minnesota, is booming up big as a presidential possibility on the Democratic ticket, although he has so far refused to let his candidacy be announced. The Eastern Democrats seem very much inclined to unite on him. Mr. Bryan may yet have to fight for the nomination in the Denver convention.

The wife of Nansen, the explorer and diplomat, died at his home in Norway while he was representing his country's interests in London. The mother of Secretary Taft died at her home in Ohio while he was absent from the United States on a tour unexampled in diplomatic history, because it will involve the circumnavigation of the globe. There will be wide sympathy for the two well known men thus bereaved while expatriated by reason of public duties.

A tariff commission bill is being prepared by Senator Beveridge and no doubt will be passed in some form. The Republican party is going to revise the tariff next year and without a vast fund of information impossible to secure except by a commission the revision cannot be done with any degree of intelligence. The Beveridge bill provides for a commission of five members, one of whom must be a lawyer, another a farmer, another a manufacturer and another an expert on foreign tariffs. Inasmuch as one of the primary objects of the tariff is to raise the standard of wages it would be highly appropriate that the fifth member should be a laborer.

INDIANA POLITICS

BY ROBERT G. TUCKER

Indianapolis, Ind., January 11.—The primaries to elect delegates to the Seventh district Republican convention this afternoon were held last night. There were no contests anywhere, as Oliver Ensley, present chairman, was the only candidate whose name was presented. The convention was interesting, as resolutions endorsing the candidacy of Vice President Fairbanks for president and of Wm. L. Taylor for governor were adopted. The convention also praised Captain Harry S. New, national chairman, and declared in favor of the renomination of Jesse Overstreet to congress. It is to be a harmony program from start to finish for the purpose of bringing the various local factions together for the coming campaign. W. N. Harding, a well-known attorney, was permanent chairman of the convention. Taylor was to have made an address, but he was called to Wolcottville by the death of a relative.

It is said that the political opponents of T. Taggart who led the fight to prevent his gaining control of the Democratic state committee have decided to ask the committee to adopt a resolution calling for the election of delegates to the state and national conventions by direct primaries. The delegates to the national convention name the national committeeman. It has been the custom of the party for many years to elect delegates to the national convention here on the eve of the state convention. Taggart's opponents believe they can beat him if the people have a chance to vote as to who shall be national committeeman. James Kirby Risk of Lafayette may become the candidate of the anti-Taggart forces for national committeeman. The state committee will be asked by the anti-Taggart leaders at its first meeting to act on the resolution. Risk and Henry Warrum of Indianapolis have accepted William J. Bryan's invitation to become his guests at Lincoln next week. Warrum will be one of the principal speakers at a banquet of the Nebraska Democrats. A meeting of the directors of the Indiana Democratic club will be held tonight to determine whether or not a big state banquet shall be given here the night of Feb. 17 in honor of Bryan. The latter will be here at that time, and the club is trying to arrange for a banquet and love feast.

CURRENT COMMENT

A Story of a Parish.

In the current number of McClure's Magazine there is a story of the work done by an Italian pastor in an American laboring community made up of his own countrymen. A remarkable bit of missionary work is described, work that recalls the old time minister on the border of civilization when one good man's example and persuasiveness leavened the whole lump of careless, selfish and pleasure loving humanity, keeping order and progress to the fore. The record is a very old one in the history of church labors, but becomes significant and interesting in this case because it shows what may be done with our raw immigrant material.

The one sad feature attending the marvelous influx of immigrants of all classes into this country has been the lack of efficient means to assimilate them. Those who would guide and teach them could not speak to them in their own tongues in many cases and at least could not appeal to their natures in a way to have influence. People of all nations are clamish. They think their own kind is the best. This Italian pastor used his gifts and opportunities to do just what native leaders and guides have done here among natives. He has not produced a little Italy among the American hills, but an up to date town in which his Italian parishioners feel at home and find incentives to decency, thrift and order. There must be more of good than evil in the average immigrant who risks so much and travels so far to find a home. The Rev. Pasquale de Nisco has worked on the good traits and minimized the evil ones, setting a colony on the highroad to true American citizenship.

Banishing Poverty.

China is adopting means of relief for the poor who are made so by overcrowding which are of interest here at this time. The large cities of our land are crowded with people who have no means of support. This is to be expected as a sequel to every reaction in business. Temporary relief is given and history repeated with every fluctuation of prosperity. It is believed that the poor who ask for charity in hard times are unfortunates and cannot help their condition. It might be cheaper in the end for philanthropy to expend $10 on permanent relief where $1 merely gives temporary benefit.

China proposes to go into her overcrowded provinces and take out the poor, providing for them permanent homes in Manchuria, where they will soon be able to maintain themselves. Every male emigrant will be given out right ten acres of arable land which will be free from taxes for five years. All the seed, tools and animals required for stocking and working the little farm will be furnished by the government free of charge. The government's outlay on the start is for transportation and equipment. Eventually the new farm will pay taxes on the bulk of products, so the net result of the enterprise is the creation of a new factor of national prosperity out of a wholly useless and costly element of society. If the poor who are now swelling the ranks on the bread lines and around the soup kitchens of American cities are worthy and merely unfortunate, it would be a measure of economy as well as justice to give each family ten acres and a "stake" to work out their own poverty cure.

To Remove the Criminal Brand.

Taking revenge upon convicts for wrongs committed seems to be going out of fashion in America. Recently prison garb was ordered abolished in a New York prison because the wearing of stripes was a constant reminder to the convict that he was under the ban of society and had no hope in life. A Baltimore aid society has taken another step to pave the way for the reclamation of criminals after the law has been satisfied.

The Baltimore plan is to transfer the liberated criminal from the prison workshop to a factory maintained by the society, where he may earn his own living, and meanwhile the society will look for an opening for more profitable occupation. This halfway house of reform will prevent the released convict from drifting back into associations which might lead to a second lapse from the straight path. Many prisoners are good and faithful workmen in the prison shops, but when released find difficulty in getting work because of their records. Sociologists will be interested in this new experiment at removing the bar of ostracism which has always stood between the ex-convict and the respectable element of society.

So far the increased price of white paper has not diminished the fury of the snowstorms on the stage during any of the modern thrilling melodramas.

"Mince pie is not injurious if you can digest it," says a physician. The same holds true, we presume, of shoe leather and spineless cactus.

If Christ Visited The World Today.

By the Rev. R. J. CAMPBELL, Prominent Preacher of London.

IF Jesus came to minister to us today and did not say who he was, do you think his own church would receive him GLADLY? I am perfectly sure it would not. It would regard him as a DANGEROUS REVOLUTIONARY engaged in upsetting order in the church and state.

If Jesus came to London today he would not go down to the poor east end and talk to the children dancing to the organ out in the street, say he was their big brother and give them something to eat. HE WOULD NOT THINK CHARITY WOULD MEET THE CASE, and if he did he would not have very much to give away. The east end of London would be TOO MUCH for him, and he would have to work a fresh miracle every day. If he did it would be very demoralizing.

JESUS WOULD STRIKE STRAIGHT AT THE CAUSES WHICH ARE MAKING FOR POVERTY AND DEGRADATION AND KEEPING THE RICH AND THE POOR AWAY FROM EACH OTHER IN THIS MODERN WORLD. HE WOULD EXPOSE THE WHOLE SYSTEM OF GIVING PEOPLE GOOD ADVICE, WHILE WE CONTINUE TO PROFIT BY THEIR MATERIAL DISADVANTAGES. HE WOULD PROBE THE THING TO THE BOTTOM AND WOULD MAKE US ASHAMED OF OURSELVES FOR NEVER HAVING FACED THE SITUATION BEFORE.

A short time ago an artist and his wife were found drowned in the Thames. They had chosen that end because the struggle to live had been too much for them. I suppose there are some people who would say these two poor things would go to hell. If so, IT CANNOT BE VERY MUCH WORSE THAN THE HELL THEY LEFT.

Who makes that hell? I make it. You make it. We all do our little to help to make it—NOT WILLINGLY, BUT THOUGHTLESSLY.

Flying Kites By the Nervous

Dr. J. B. McKenzie of New York Puts Kiteflying Ahead of All Medical Remedies—No Other Form of Mild Outdoor Activity So Beneficial, He Declares.

Kiteflying in the early morning is the latest cure for neurasthenia, the pet complaint of jaded society men and women. It is advocated by Dr. J. B. McKenzie of New York, who asserts that it provides both the mental diversion and physical exercise that are essential to a cure.

One may plunge into the gay life of society with impunity, Dr. McKenzie declares, with no fear of suffering from disordered nerves if this treatment is followed. He says that one hour in the open air before breakfast flying a kite is better than all the remedies known to medical science. Dr. McKenzie explained his theory to a New York American reporter the other night.

"Physicians have been prescribing open air exercise for tired and worn nerves for years," he said, "but while outdoor exercise is certainly beneficial they have neglected a most important point—that of insuring similarly beneficial exercise for the mind.

"If good results are to be obtained from outdoor exercise in cases of neurasthenia, it is imperative that the mind must have the same relaxation as the body.

"With this in view, I have worked out my theory of kiteflying as a cure for patients suffering from the nervous illness brought on by long protracted functions of society. Probably any other exercise which entailed the same change for mental rest and change and the same amount of physical exercise would answer the purpose as well, but I have chosen the kite as perhaps the best suited in every respect to produce the desired effect.

"I have not put my theory to a real practical test, but I am confident that the kite cure will be a decided success. "I would advise patients suffering from neurasthenic troubles to go into the parks with kites, which they can spend an hour daily in flying. They can go alone or in a party, as they please. The effect of a merry chat at sunrise in the open air on topics of outdoor interest would be of a beneficial nature. In two weeks I believe that almost any ordinary case of insomnia or other nervous affection could be cured.

"You may ask me why I have chosen the kite as a cure for these maladies. You want to know why a half mile or mile constitutional in the morning would not be just as effective. Well, I will tell you. A man walks mechan-

WASTE LAND REDEMPTION

Waste land consisting of a vast section on Long Island and generally referred to as absolutely valueless has been made very productive through an excellent scheme of the Long Island railroad.

Experimental farming stations have been started during the past two years, and the work at the first one in the neighborhood of Wading River has been very successful. Practically all of this is due to the efforts of Hal B. Fullerton and his wife, Mrs. Edith Loring Fullerton, who over a year ago started to clear a section consisting of scrub oak wastes and pine barrens.

Mr. and Mrs. Fullerton, who are very fond of farming, have made a thorough study of agriculture. Their outlay has been on a moderate scale, and the success that they have attained is

EGGS I NEW STYLE

Australians have devised a scheme to turn fresh laid eggs to powder for preserving and shipping purposes, says an Ottawa special dispatch to the Chicago Record-Herald.

In a recent report the trade commissioner for Canada in Australia makes special reference to a process for desiccating eggs now being carried out there for which high claims are made and which the commissioner thus describes:

Desiccated eggs are not substitutes for eggs, but newly laid eggs, and are treated by a process by which only the shell and water contents of the egg are removed and the whole substance of the egg, yolk and albumen, converted into powder.

It is claimed to have been proved that this powder will keep for years and only requires the addition of milk or water, when the powdered eggs will reconstitute and be ready for use for any purpose just the same as a newly laid egg. The powder is rich and attractive looking and is reported by the government analysis of New South Wales and Victoria to contain no chemical preservative. No part of the egg except the water has been removed in the process.

Telephone Buoys For Submarines.

Detachable telephone buoys are to be used to prevent any recurrence of submarine disasters, which have cost a number of men in the French navy their lives, says a Paris special cable dispatch to the Chicago Inter Ocean. In case a submarine vessel goes to the bottom and is unable to rise a buoy will be loosed by the imprisoned crew and sent to the surface to attract attention and summon help. Persons attracted to the buoy can then talk to the men below, learn their exact predicament and the best way of overcoming it. The minister of the navy recently ordered the equipment installed on all submarines.

New Yorker's Cure For Ills of the Smart Set

He may think about dinners or dances or may worry about finance, but still he keeps on walking automatically. That is just the trouble with early walks. They are of no value to the neurasthenic patient unless his or her mind is taken away from the customary events of daily life, from the worries and cares of the day.

"Kiteflying, while it gives the same opportunity for physical exercise as a walk, requires the attention of the patient. It needs close watching and has just enough mild excitement connected with it to hold the attention of the patient."

told by the Long Island Agronomist, from which we quote the following:

For the experimental stations the past year has brought them public recognition of which any one might be proud. Wherever the products of this new soil have been exhibited they have won prizes and honors. The first tribute paid comes from abroad, where the Exposition International at Milan, which brought together all manner of devices and methods for the improvement and safety of mankind, awarded experimental station No. 1 an exquisite bronze medal for the rapid, cheap and common sense method of clearing undeveloped territory that it may occupy its proper sphere in supplying mankind's needs.

At the Suffolk county fair the two farms won in open competition thirty-three prizes. At the Queens-Nassau county fair Suffolk county entries were barred from competition, but the exhibit from the farms won universal commendation. At the American institute in New York city fourteen prizes and a certificate of merit were their highest award. At the Horticultural society of New York city they received a bronze medal for collection of vegetables. This society awards only three medals, one each for the best collection of flowers, fruits and vegetables. In the two New York city exhibitions the experimental stations' vegetables met as competitors not only farmers' and market gardeners' products, but those from great estates around the city, where no money is spared to produce choice specimens.

The story of the development of the experimental stations has been carried many places by means of informal lectures illustrated by colored lantern slides. It will be repeated this winter at Southold before the farmers' institute. It has been given in New York nine times. It received such a hearty welcome at the Connecticut Pomological society in February that we had scarcely reached home before a request came that it be repeated in January, 1908, before the New Jersey State Horticultural society. It formed one lecture in the regular course of the real estate class of the Bedford branch of the Y. M. C. A. in Brooklyn. This was given with the title "The Railroad as a Developer of Real Estate." It received such hearty commendation that we have been asked to repeat it in the same place in February before a popular audience in the auditorium.

The farms send regularly each fall and spring a collection of vegetables to the New York city nature classes in the slums.

WHAT SHALL I DO WITH JESUS MEET IN MASS MEETING TODAY

Dr. Tevis Declares All Would be Benefited by Heeding Conscience

DAYS OF REFORMATION ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING

Pastor Says With Grace of God, He Will Continue to Tear off The Mask

Dr. Tevis delivered an impressive sermon at the revival meeting last night, the close of which was marked for its solemnity with prayer in song and words.

The pastor spoke on the lesson of Jesus and Barrabas, from Matthew, taking for his text "What shall I do then with Jesus?"

"Life is full of interrogation points," said Dr. Tevis. "The days are filled with them, but the most momentous one is the question asked in this twenty-second verse. It is a perplexing question which must be settled on the throne of reason. Good judgment and personal interest demands an immediate settlement of the question what shall I do with Jesus? We must be first moved to appreciate that goodness is greatness; goodness is happiness. Let us heed our conscience in these matters. Conscience is good only to be heard; only to be felt. We would avoid many fatal blunders if we hearkened to its dictates more. These are days of reformation and I say here, that if men in business and men high in politics are men of conscience, their stars will shine when others go down."

"A friend of mine remarked to me the other day," said the pastor, "that I was speaking very plain on some matters. I say, I want the grace of God to preach tremendously plain sermons, to tear the masks off which many are wearing tonight, but I speak of a tremendously loving Jesus."

Sunday night, Dr. Tevis will deliver one of the strongest sermons of the revival on "Daniel, the Great Christian Statesman."

All Townships Not Yet Reported, Meeting Will be Held Here Monday

The Republican mass convention was held this afternoon at the court house and was full of enthusiasm and interest.

The meeting was called to order by County Chairman Charles Frazee, and Fred Capp was elected permanent chairman, and John F. Joyce, secretary.

The names of Fred A. Capp, Frank Mull, Joseph Cowing and D. O. Buell were placed in nomination for delegates to the convention to be held at Cambridge City, January 14th, to elect a district chairman for the Sixth district. Capp and Mull receiving the largest number of votes, were declared delegates and Cowing and Bell, alternates.

Frank C. Buell and Ad V. Spivey were elected delegates and John H. Kiplinger and E. B. Thomas were elected alternates to the Cambridge City convention February 4th, to elect delegates to the national convention.

The precinct committeemen elected were as follows: No. 1, Grant Gregg; No. 2, Chase Mauzy; No. 3, Guy Gordon; No. 4, D. M. Kinney; No. 5, T. M. Greenlee; No. 6, James G. Miller; No. 7, George W. Krammes; No. 8, T. A. Colman; No. 9, W. H. Amos.

JACKSON TOWNSHIP. Delegates to the convention, January 14th—Isaac Stevens; alternate, J. R. Newhouse; delegate to convention, February 4th, J. E. Caldwell; alternate, Fred Oldham; committeeman, Hal W. Green.

ORANGE TOWNSHIP. Delegates to the convention, January 14th, Noah Tryon; alternate, Will Campbell; delegates to convention February 4th, Charles Alter, delegate; alternate, Ad. Richey; committeemen, Loyd Wagoner and Ernest Wright.

UNION TOWNSHIP. Delegate to convention January 14th, Ora Smith; alternate, W. R. Martin; delegate to convention, February 4th, S. J. McClure; alternate Bert Rees; committeemen, W. M. Bell and Marshall Hinchman.

WASHINGTON TOWNSHIP. Delegates to convention January 14th, E. L. Hollowell; alternate, George H. Sweet; delegate to convention February 4th, E. H. Hackleman; alternate, Otis Werking; committeemen, B. F. Martin, chairman, George H. Sweet and J. L. Hayes. A resolution was passed at the Washington township convention instructing delegates to vote for primary elections in each county.

The other townships have not yet been heard from, but will send in their reports later.

PASTOR TOUCHES HIS HEARERS WITH SERMON

One of the greatest meetings of the week was held last night at the Second M. E. church. The services were very impressive and one member was reclaimed.

Rev. Carroll, pastor of the Shelbyville Second M. E. church, who is assisting in the meetings, preached an eloquent sermon on "Sowing and Reaping."

On Sunday morning, Rev. Carroll will preach on "Sufficiency of Revelation" and at night on "The Delights in God's Home." Rev. Carpenter, the pastor will preach at 8 p. m. on "Thirteen Men Coming Up the Dirt Road."

Hoarding.

Hoarding is not only an economic mistake, but an economic crime as well. It is, in fact, a survival of the evil days of maladministration. It comes down to us from the time when nearly all governments were conquerors which considered themselves entitled to plunder their subjects. Thus hoarding is founded upon distrust of the government.—Statesman, Calcutta.

GLENWOOD MEN IN GREEN GOODS DEAL

One Farmer, Employed as a "Booster," is Said to Have Disappeared

Stories of another "green goods" swindle comes from Glenwood. It is understood that one of the wealthiest residents, and a man well known, having figured in several escapades of county interest, was "separated" from a neat bundle of money by the "queer" manufacturers, and that a neighboring farmer, who was instrumental in closing the deal, has disappeared, and is supposed to be in company with the confidence men.

Then Marion Page took possession of him so exclusively, so calmly, that something in her cool certainty vaguely irritated Sylvia, who had never liked her. Besides, the girl showed too plainly her indifference to other people, which other people seldom find amusing.

"Stephen," called out Alderdene anxiously counting the web loops in his khaki vest, "what do you call fair shooting at these ruffed grouse? You needn't be civil about it, you know."

"Five shells to a bird is good shooting," answered Sward. "Don't you think so, Miss Page?"

"You have a better score, Mr. Sward," said Marion Page, with a hostile glance at Alderdene, who had not made good. Impatient to start, she had turned her tailor made back to the company and was instructing his crest-fallen lordship very plainly: "You fire too quickly, Blinky. Two seconds is what you must count when a grouse flushes. You must say, 'Mark, right,' or 'Mark, left, bang!'"

And so the luncheon party, lord and lady, twins and maidens, guides and dogs, trailed away across the ridge, distant silhouettes presently against the sky, then gone. And after a little while the far dry, accentless report of smokeless powder announced that the opening of the season had been resumed and the birds were dying fast in the glory of a perfect day.

"Are you ready, Mr. Sward?" She stood waiting for him at the edge of the thicket. Miles resumed his game sack and his fowling piece. The dog came up, looking him anxiously in the eyes.

So he walked forward beside her into the dappled light of the thicket.

Within a few minutes the dog stood twice, and twice the whirring twitter of woodcock startled her, echoed by the futile crack of his gun.

"Beg pardon, sir."

"Yes, Miles," with a glint of humor.

"Overshot, sir, excuse me the liberty, Mr. Sward. Both marked down forty yards to the left if you wish to start 'em again."

"Miles," he said, "my nerve is gone. Such things happen. I'm all in. Come over here, my friend, and look at the sun with me."

The discomfited keeper obeyed.

"Where ought that refulgent luminary to scintillate when I face Osprey Ledge?"

"Sir?"

"The sun. How do I hold it?"

"On the pint of your right shoulder, sir. You ain't quittin', Mr. Sward."

sir!" anxiously. "That Shotover cup is easy yours, sir!" eagerly. "Wot's a miss on a old drummer, Mr. Sward? Wot's twice overshootin' cock, sir, when a blind dropper can see you are the cleanest, fastest, hard shootin' shot in the hull county?"

But Sward shook his head, with an absent glance at the dog, and motioned the astonished keeper forward.

"Line the easiest trail for us," he said. "I think we are already a trifle tired. Twigs will do in short cover. Use a hatchet in the big timber. And go slow till we join you."

And when the unwilling and perplexed keeper had started, Sward, unlocking his gun, drew out the smooth yellow cartridges and pocketed them.

Sylvia looked up as the sharp metallic click of the locked breech rang out in the silence.

"Mr. Sward!" in quick displeasure.

"Yes?"

"What you do for your amusements cannot concern me."

"Right, as usual," he said, so gayly that a reluctant smile trembled on her lips.

"Then why have you done this? It is unreasonable if you don't feel as I do about killing things that are having a good time in the world."

He stood silent, absently looking at the fowling piece cradled in his left arm. "Shall we sit here a moment and talk it over?" he suggested listlessly.

Her blue gaze swept him. His vague smile was indifferently bland.

"If you are determined not to shoot we might as well start for Osprey Ledge," she suggested. "Otherwise, what reason is there for our being here together, Mr. Sward?"

Awaiting his comment, perhaps expecting a counter proposition, she leaned against the tree beside which he stood, and after awhile, as his absent-minded preoccupation continued:

"Do you think the leaves are dry enough to sit on?"

He slipped off his shooting coat and placed it at the base of the tree. She seated herself, and, as he continued to remain standing, she stripped off her shooting gloves and glanced up at him inquiringly. "Well, Mr. Sward, I am literally at your feet."

"Which redresses the balance a little," he said, finding a place near her.

He sat there, chin propped on his linked fingers, elbows on knees and, though there was always the hint of a smile in his pleasant eyes, always the indefinable charm of breeding in voice and attitude, something now was lacking. And after a moment she concluded that it was his attention. Certainly his wits were woolgathering again. His eyes, edged with the shadow of a smile, saw far beyond her, far beyond the sunlit shadows where they sat.

In his preoccupation she had found him negatively attractive. She glanced at him now from time to time, her eyes returning always to the beauty of the subdued light where all about them silver stemmed birches clustered like slim shining pillars crowned with their autumn canopy of crumpled gold.

"Enchantment!" she said under her breath. "Surely an enchanted sleeper lies here somewhere."

"You," he observed, "unawakened."

"Asleep? I?" She looked around at him. "You are the dreamer here. Your eyes are full of dreaming even now. What is your desire?"

He leaned on one arm, watching her. She had dropped her ungloved hand, searching among the newly fallen gold of the birch leaves drifted into heaps. On the third finger a jewel glittered. He saw it, conscious of its meaning, but his eyes followed the hand idly heaping up autumn gold—a white slim hand, smoothly fascinating. Then the little restless hand swept near to his, almost touching it, and then instinctively he took it in his own curiously, lifting it a little to consider its nearer loveliness. Perhaps it was the unexpectedness of it, perhaps it was sheer amazement, that left her hand lying idly relaxed like a white petaled blossom in his.

After a little while the consciousness of the contact disconcerted her. She withdrew her fingers, with an involuntary shiver.

"Is there no chance for me, Miss Landis?"

The very revulsion of self possession returning chilled her; then anger came quick and hot; then pride. She deliberated, choosing her words coolly enough, "What chance do you mean, Mr. Sward?"

"A fighting chance. Can you give it to me?"

"A fighting chance? For what?" very low, very dangerous.

"For you."

Then in spite of her her senses became unsteady. A sudden ringing confusion seemed to deafen her, through which his voice, as if very far away, sounded again:

"Men who are worth a fighting chance ask for it sometimes, but take it always. I take it."

Her pallor faded under the flood of bright color. The blue of her eyes darkened ominously to velvet.

"Mr. Sward," she said very distinctly and slowly, "I am not—even sorry—for you."

"Then my chance is desperate indeed," he retorted coolly.

"Chance! Do you imagine?" Her anger choked her.

"Are you not a little hard?" he said, palling under his tan. "I suppose women dismissed men more gently—even such a man as I am."

For a full minute she strove to comprehend.

"Such a man as you," she repeated vaguely. "You mean"—A crimson wave dyed her skin to the temples, and she leaned toward him in horror stricken contrition. "I didn't mean that, Mr. Sward! I—I never thought of that! It had no weight. It was not in my thoughts. I meant only that you had assumed what is unwarranted—that you—your question humiliated me, knowing that I am engaged—knowing me so little—so!"

"Yes, I knew everything. Ask yourself why I risk everything to say this to you? There can be only one answer."

Then, after a long silence, "Have I ever," she began tremblingly—"ever by word or look?"

"No."

"Have I even?"

"No. I've simply discovered how I feel. That's what I was dreaming about when you asked me. I was afraid I might do this too soon, but I meant to do it anyway before it became too late."

"It was too late from the very moment we met, Mr. Sward." And, as he reddened painfully again, she added quickly, "I mean that I had already decided."

And, as he said nothing: "You were a little rough, a little sudden with me, Mr. Sward. Men have asked me that question—several times, but never so soon, so unreasonably soon—never without some preliminary of some sort, so that I could foresee—be more or less prepared. But you gave me no warning. I—if you had I would have known how to be gentle. I—I wish to be now."

Still he said nothing. He sat there listlessly studying the sun spots glowing, waxing, waning, on the carpet of dead leaves at his feet.

AMUSEMENTS

The bills at the Vaude and Grand last night were both highly pleasing and drew large crowds. The same program will be repeated tonight.

A number of Rushville people contemplate going to Connersville next Tuesday night to see George Ade's play, "Just Out of College." In the crowd from Rushville will be found many former high school students, as this is the play they produced last spring at the close of their school term. The play is one of the funniest Ade ever wrote, has plenty of action, and quick, snappy dialogue. Seats can be secured here of Frank Lyons at the I. & C. station.

The Grand theatre will offer a stronger program on next Tuesday night with the "Hoosier State Vaudeville" with considerable more variety in the program as follows: Overtures, Miss Marguerite Grey; Pathé, "Widow and Orphans of the Sea," "Patting Out the Fire,"

NEWS OF INDIANA

ALL QUIET AT MUNCIE

Town Never So Peaceful as During Stay of Troops.

Muncie, Ind., Jan. 11.—Not a single break has marred Muncie's record for good behavior in the last three days. The oldest inhabitant says the town was never so peaceful before, so peaceful, indeed, that last night a minister got excited when he saw a group of soldiers enter a resort and at once notified Major General McKee. The latter then ordered Lieutenant Whitney of Battery A, officer of the guard, to take a squad and arrest the men.

Lieutenant Whitney hurriedly summoned a squad of artillerymen and moved at double quick to the place in question. When they reached the resort they found Lieutenant Vint, also of Battery A, in charge of the battery, coming out of the resort, followed by the men detailed to assist him in seeking out wanderers from the military fold. It was a case of laugh, of course. The two lieutenants explained and went on their respective ways.

The sight of a squad moving through the streets at doublequick set Muncie alive with rumors that there had been another riot and trouble was on again. The story flew through the streets. Just when it was at its height an automobile tire exploded in front of police headquarters and that only added to the excitement. About the same time stories began to fly that Marion was in the throes of a riot and that Lieutenant Whitney's squad was a whole regiment en route to Marion. It was midnight before the soldiers and the citizens could become quiet enough to attempt peaceful slumber.

Early in the evening a small boy wandered into the Auditorium where the Indianapolis battalion is quartered, carrying a can that resembled the cans in which nitroglycerine is shipped. The boy was immediately corralled, and Captain H. W. McBride of Company D, who is an expert in explosives, was called to examine the can. The men stood about him anxiously peering at the supposed death-dealer. It contained molasses.

"KANSAS FOR CHRIST!"

Slogan Adopted For an All Year Evangelistic Campaign.

"Kansas for Christ" is to be the slogan in an evangelistic campaign that is to be pushed simultaneously in every county of the Sunflower State during 1908. Hundreds of preachers of various denominations, together with numerous evangelists, are to hold revivals, says a Kansas City dispatch to the Washington Star.

An entire year will be spent in the movement, and an effort is to be made to demonstrate to the whole country what may be accomplished in concerted religious work carried forward on strictly business lines. The great revival is to be under the direct leadership of Rev. William Edward Biederwolf, who planned it.

The undertaking will be subject to the general supervision of a board of two preachers and two laymen from each denomination. This body, which has already been organized, with fifteen denominations represented, has selected Edward E. Taylor of Philadelphia as secretary.

Congress and the Frock Coat.

Congress is eliminating the frock coat habit. More than half the members of the new congress have shown their disapproval of the time honored costume by appearing on the floor of the house in the regulation business suit of tweed, says the Washington Star. Red and lavender neckties can poll a larger vote than the somber black string tie, and old members loyal to the frock coat and its accessories are discussing with despair the future of congressional tan shoes. Fear expressed by members of the house for the doom of the frock coat has already disturbed the equanimity of the senate by the appearance of a couple of belligerents in the ranks of this black coated body.

Prohibition on Trains.

As a result of the liquor crusade now going on in Iowa, the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad has issued orders to dining car conductors prohibiting the sale of liquor while in Iowa, says a Des Moines dispatch. The order went into effect the other day. It is understood that the other roads will take similar action.

BRIDGES GUARDED

Traction Company Taking No Chances at Logansport.

DAY AND NIGHT PATROLS

Costly Structures on Union Traction Lines Across the Wabash Are Under Constant Guard.

Presence of Strike Agitators in Logansport Led to This Precautionary Measure.

Logansport, Ind., Jan. 11.—Indiana Union Traction officials are guarding the two big interurban bridges spanning the Wabash river two miles east of the city. Day and night section men patrol the bridges and no one is permitted to cross or approach the structures. The bridges are the largest on the Indiana Union Traction lines, one being almost a quarter of a mile long. Should this structure be wrecked all communication with Logansport would be cut off, as there is no other place to cross the river.

The presence of strikers or sympathizers in the city caused the guard to be doubled at night. Strangers came to Logansport a few days ago and scattered bills, urging the citizens to boycott the Indiana Union Traction company line and use the steam road in going to Indianapolis and other points south. The circulars charged the motormen and conductors on the interurban cars running into this city with being disloyal to their former comrades.

Seeking a Change of Venue.

Terre Haute, Ind., Jan. 11.—The defense in the case of William Clark, former county treasurer, instead of asking for a change of venue from the county, has asked for a change from Judge Piety of the circuit bench. The judge has requested the attorneys to agree on a special judge and has said that if they fail to do so he will try to get a judge from the appellate or supreme bench. The trial has been set for Jan. 16.

A Faithful Dog.

Terre Haute, Ind., Jan. 11.—The widow of Charles Thompson was killed by a train at the Evansville & Terre Haute railway crossing. She was seventy years old. A dog often seen accompanying the woman would not permit any person to touch the body, and the animal had to be removed from the side of his dead mistress by force.

Death in the Wire Fence.

Connorsville, Ind., Jan. 11.—The recent auditing of the books of the German Baptist Mutual Protective association revealed the fact that 75 per cent of the cattle accidentally killed on the farms in Wayne, Union and Fayette counties met death from electric shocks, received from wire fences inclosing the pastures.

The total enrollment of students at Harvard university this year is 5,763. This is a decrease of 26 from last year.

FREE TO YOU—MY SISTER

Free to You and Every Sister Suffering from Woman's Ailments.

I am a woman. I know woman's sufferings. I have found the cure. I will mail, free of any charge, my home treatment with full instructions to any sufferer from woman's ailments. I want to tell all women about this cure—yes, my reader, for yourself, your daughter, your mother, or your sister. I want to tell you how to cure yourselves at home without the help of a doctor. Men cannot understand women's sufferings. What we women know from experience, we know better than any doctor. I know that my home treatment is safe and sure cure for Leucorrhoea or White discharges, Ulceration, Displacement or Falling of the Womb, Profuse, Scanty or Painful Periods, Uterine or Ovarian Tumors, or Growths; also pains in head, back and bowels, bearing down feelings, nervousness, creeping feeling up the spine, melancholy, desire to cry, hot flashes, weariness, kidney, and bladder troubles where caused by weaknesses peculiar to our sex.

I want to send you a complete ten day's treatment entirely free to prove to you that you can cure yourself at home, easily, quickly and surely. Remember, that, it will cost you nothing to give the treatment a complete trial; and if you are cured, you will be able to pay for it. It costs a week or less than two cents a day. If you wish to continue, it will cost you only about 12 cents a week or less than two cents a day. It will not interfere with your work or occupation. Just send me your name and address, tell me how you suffer if you wish, and I will send you the treatment for your cure, entirely free, in plain wrapper, by return mail. I will also send you free of cost, my book—"WOMAN'S OWN MEDICAL ADVISER" with explanatory illustrations showing why women suffer, and how they can easily cure themselves at home. Every woman should have it, and learn to think for herself. Then when the doctor says—"You must have an operation," you can decide for yourself. Thousands of women have cured themselves with my home remedy. It cures all old and young. To Mothers of Daughters, I will explain a simple home treatment which speedily and effectually cures Leucorrhoea, Green Sickness and Painful or Irregular Menstruation in young Ladies. Plumpness and health always results from its use.

Wherever you live, I can refer you to ladies of your own locality who know and will gladly tell any sufferer that this home treatment really cures all women's diseases, and makes women well, strong, plump and robust. Just send me your address, and the free ten day's treatment is yours, also the book. Write to-day, as you may not see this offer again. Address: MRS. M. SUMMERS, Box H - - Notre Dame, Ind., U. S. A.

Had Tried Electricity.

A benevolent gentleman attempted to converse with the motherly old lady who sat next to him in the railway carriage. He discovered that she was very deaf, and the conversation was established by shouting.

"You are very deaf, aren't you, madam?" ultimately belittled he of the benevolence.

"I am so," was the reply, "and haven't been able to do a thing for it."

"Have you ever tried electricity?" shouted the kind hearted man.

"Yes," she said, nodding vigorously.

At a recent meeting of the members of the Rushville fire department a resolution was offered that a vote of thanks be extended to the business men and merchants who so generously presented to the city firemen a purse as a token of their appreciation of their strenuous and successful efforts to save from destruction property adjoining the Carmichael mill on the occasion of the burning of that structure two weeks ago. The resolution was unanimously adopted.

Beautiful Hair Makes the Plainest Face Attractive.

Any woman can have beautiful and luxuriant hair by using Parisian Sage, the great French Hair Tonic and Dandruff Cure.

Parisian Sage is the favorite Hair Tonic of the French people and since its introduction into America, it has met with wonderful success.

If you want beautiful, lustrous hair that will be the envy of your friends, go to the drug store of F. B. Johnson & Co., and get a bottle of Parisian Sage today and use it for a week.

If at the end of a week you are not satisfied that Parisian Sage is the most delightful and refreshing Hair Tonic you ever used, take it back and get your money.

"After using one bottle of Parisian Sage, I now have a better growth of hair and I found your Hair Restorer pleasant to use. After the first application, the dandruff disappeared and my hair stopped falling out, and it has been restored to its natural color. I now recommend your Parisian Sage to all my lady friends.—Lottie Real, 111 Mt Hope Ave., Rochester, N. Y."

SEED CORN IS SCARE ARTICLE

Farmers are Anxious About the Supply Because of Soggy Condition

SCARCELY ANY AVAILABLE

Conditions are the Same Throughout Entire Corn Belt of United States

Farmers are much concerned about the supply of seed corn [next spring and the question of where they will be able to secure seed that will give them a good stand is one that is not easily answered. The season was entirely too short for the corn crop last year and as a consequence it failed to mature properly. All corn contains a large per cent of moisture and for some reason it has failed to dry out as it should, leaving most of it in a mouldy or soured condition. The germ is weak and most of the corn gathered for seed will be unfit to plant.

A well known farmer in discussing the situation said: "In examining the seed corn which I gathered last fall I find that there is scarcely any that will do to plant. The germ in nearly every grain is dead and although I gave it the best of care the entire lot is worthless. I have just two bushels of old corn left and I regard it as very valuable."

The fact that the same condition prevails throughout the entire country makes the question of where the seed for the coming crop is to be had a very serious one for the farmers.

—Charles Spiegel, a manufacturer of Shelbyville, was here yesterday on business.
